

STATUS OF CONSTRUCTION DEWATERING PERMIT APPLICATIONS

Received by Water Quality Control Division through thru 5/14/2012

Notes: Most applications received prior to 4/27/2012 that have been issued and are no longer listed on this site. To Find Active permits and select the link to the EPA Echo Site

- Applications are listed below by the date received in our office.
- This list will be updated every week unless postponed due to closures and official state holidays.
- No faxed or emailed copies of applications are accepted.
- INCOMPLETE in the final column - All incomplete applications and/or applications without original signatures will be put on hold and not processed until all of the requested information is received. If the "Permit Certification Effective Date" column indicates "Application Incomplete - Not issued" then your application has been reviewed and found to be missing information and/or original signatures. Applicants are generally notified within 15 days that their application is incomplete. When you receive the notification that your application is incomplete, provide all requested information. (Do not fill out and submit a new application! This may result in duplicate certifications and billing.) The 30 days the Division has to issue the permit is on hold until all information is received.
- REVIEW in the final column indicates that the draft is in final management review and should be issued within the next week. Calls to the Division will not speed this process.
- A DATE in the final column ("Permit Certification Effective Date) column indicates the date that the permit certification was issued and became effective. Permit certifications are typically mailed out 2 to 3 business days after the "Permit Certification Effective Date." Permit certifications will be issued and mailed to the company/entity name and address indicated in item 1 of the application, and sent to the attention of the signatory indicated as the legal contact.
- Calling the Water Quality Control Division will not speed up the permitting process. Due to the large volume of requests and limited resources, the Division will be referring all questions related to the status of construction dewatering permits to the list below. The Division Permit writers attempt to handle all applications on first come, first serve. However, the applications are divided between the permit writers and some discharge locations require less resources by the Division than others. Therefore, effective dates may not reflect first in, first out. The Division apologizes for the delay in issuing some permits.
- For all other questions, please call the Permits Help Line at (303) 692-3517.
- * Permits are split up and processed by different permit writers. Permits are not necessarily issued on the first in/first out in receipt by the division. Permits are processed on first in, first out by each permit writer.
